

FOR THE LOVE OF CATS

Domestic shorthair, birman, Bengal, Siamese...Whatever your pet preference, it's all about cats, cats, cats at Paddington Cat Hospital.

The veterinarians and nursing staff at Paddington Cat Hospital are not only dedicated to providing the best possible care for their patients, they have a particular love for them too.

Paddington Cat Hospital is easy to find. Just look for the big blue cat at their current location, situated just across the road from the top of Victoria Barracks near Paddington Town Hall and Paddington RSL Club.

Paddington Cat Hospital offers a feline-friendly professional service that specialises in cat care. Their passion is putting sick cats on the road to a purrfect recovery – and teaching cat owners how to look after their pets better too.

Looking after your cat properly means keeping up with the advances in veterinary science. Just as human medical knowledge needs to be updated continually, so does veterinary medical knowledge because 'facts' learned at university ten years ago no longer hold true.

That's where Paddington Cat Hospital excels.

In 2008, Dr Melissa Catt and Dr Randolph Baral were awarded the College Prize by the Australian College of Veterinary Science. The award recognises veterinarians who have made outstanding practical contributions to veterinary science or practice in Australia or New Zealand, without the support of an academic environment.

The staff at Paddington Cat Hospital spend a lot of time, effort and money to keep on top of new medical knowledge so they can impart this knowledge to you. The hospital also specialises in cat rehoming, pet insurance and general care.

The facility also features a dedicated boarding room for cats on holidays.

There are eight specially designed cages, including two multilevel cages to house cats from the same family.

Their boarding room is immaculate. It's clean, with lots of natural lighting and plenty of toys to keep cats amused. There is also plenty of opportunity to exercise in the custom-built outdoor run. Outside, boarders can have a run in the sun, or laze about and chat with staff as they hang out the washing. It's cat paradise.
